From the People of Haiti –

Prayers and Appreciation: The two weekly "special collections" on behalf of Catholic Relief Services and the People of Haiti far exceeded any possible expectations. Please, if you would, consider the following results:

Masses of January 16 and 17:	$ 5,427.95
Masses of January 23 and 24:	$ 7,648.11
Grand Total	$13,076.06

I am gratified, but honestly stunned, that our second week collection exceeded the first generous outpouring the weekend before. The extent of the tragedy and need, the photography and press reports out of the small island nation are compelling. Just in case you haven't heard; it is estimated the number of dead could total 200,000. An already poor struggling economy finds itself, its infrastructure, and civilian housing in shambles. Thank you very much for your generosity for the people of Haiti and your support for Catholic Relief Services. Remember, whatever you give away (especially to the poor and needy) will always come back to you. It is our faith that we are at our best when we respond to the needs of the least important of our brothers and sisters.

From the Pastor's Desk...

Jesus' neighbors and hometown folk, if they had had their way, would have stopped Jesus at the beginning of His public ministry. His teaching begins with praise and admiration, but the positive reaction turns into venom. They discredit His family background and then the townfolk demand that He perform the miracles in Nazareth they heard He had performed elsewhere.

Was their reaction born out of jealousy? Did they wonder how anyone who came from a common, ordinary background could possess wisdom and insight into scripture? The reasons for their reaction are not entirely clear but Jesus' rejection at Nazareth (remember: they wanted to throw Him over a cliff!) foreshadow His public ministry: initial acceptance and then rejection and crucifixion.

I think we need to examine the Gospels from this perspective. If Jesus of Nazareth went about "doing good," then why did they call for His death? What Jesus offered – self-examination, individual repentance, the call for a change of heart – is – ultimately – not very popular at all. It does offer an explanation to us, however, why peacemakers are ridiculed, the generous are oftentimes taken advantage of, and the poor, humble, and meek are often "run down" on the highway of life. If "they" did it to Jesus Christ, it can be done to true, genuine Christians who attempt to live His words.

Fr. Bill Arnold

Catholic Schools Week is observed this week. Education has always been one of the most important ministries of the Church, and Catholics can be proud of the "faith education" and the solid academic training Catholic Schools provide. I should like to offer two important observations. Firstly, Catholic Schools owe an enormous debt of gratitude to all who sacrifice in so many ways to keep our schools open. Secondly, it is important that families who attend Catholic Schools because they (the families and the school) are Catholic, should attend Masses weekly and actively live a faith-filled life. Attendance at Church is a very visible, important component of the faith-filled life.

Congratulations! Mrs. Linda Saelzler, Principal of Holy Spirit School, received the Bishop's Exemplary Principal Award, conferred this past week. The parish, along with the school's faculty and students, join in congratulating Mrs. Saelzler for all her efforts on behalf of Catholic Education at Holy Spirit Parish. Together, we are all committed to working with our principal in providing the very best Catholic education to our students that can be offered!

What Have You Done for Your Marriage Today?

The Marriage and Family Life Office invites you to visit the United States Conference of Catholic Bishops' (USCCB) web site (www.foryourmarriage.org) for resources to "prepare for" and "care for" your marriage. You'll find Daily Marriage Tips, sources of encouragement, information on what makes marriage work, as well as ways to nurture and strengthen your marriage. The web site is part of a larger multi-year project, the National Pastoral Initiative for Marriage (NPIM), begun in 2004. The NPIM is aimed at communicating the meaning and value of married life for the Church and for society. Weaving together the Catholic faith tradition and its pastoral practice, the data of social science, and the experience of married couples, the NPIM will offer guidance and resources in order to promote, strengthen, sustain, and restore marriages. On November 17, 2009, the United States bishops approved a pastoral letter, "Marriage: Love and Life in the Divine Plan" as a capstone of the initiative. Written for a broad audience, it presents the essential points of Catholic teaching on marriage. A summary and the full text are available at www.foryourmarriage.org.
